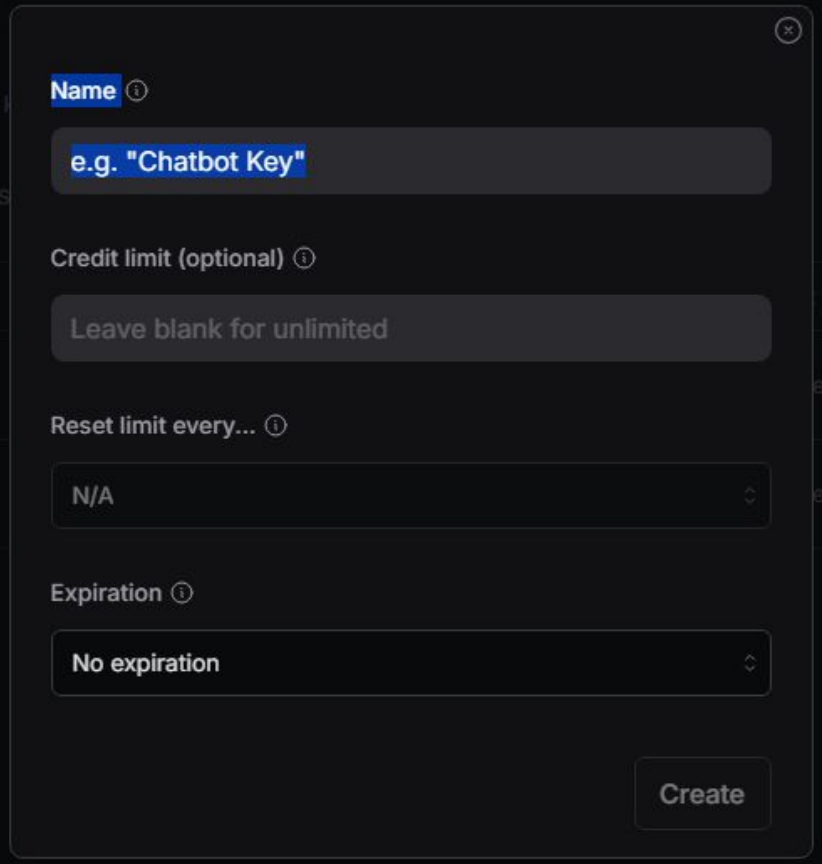
COMO CRIAR E USAR CLAUDE CODE VIA OPENROUTER NO GOOGLE CLOUD SHELL

O Google Cloud Shell é um ambiente Linux baseado em navegador que oferece acesso terminal para gerenciar seus recursos na Google Cloud. Você pode configurar Claude Code com OpenRouter nele para ter um assistente de IA para coding completamente funcional na nuvem.

1. Obter sua Chave de API do OpenRouter

Acesse https://openrouter.ai e crie uma conta gratuita. Depois:

1. Navegue até a seção "API Keys"
2. Clique em "Create Key" e copie sua chave (começa com `sk-or-v1-`)
3. Mantenha-a segura — você usará em breve



2. Instalar Claude Code no Cloud Shell

Depois que o Cloud Shell abrir, execute um destes comandos:

Opção A: Instalação nativa com curl (recomendada)

curl -fsSL https://cli.anthropic.com/install.sh| sh
```

Opção B: Instalação com npm (se Node.js já estiver disponível)

```
npm install -g @anthropic-ai/claude-code

Verificar instalação:

claude --version
```

Configurar Claude Code com OpenRouter

```
mkdir -p ~/.claude nano ~/.claude/settings.json

Security notes:

1. Claude can make mistakes
   You should always review Claude's responses, especially when running code.

2. Due to prompt injection risks, only use it with code you trust

Tips for getting started
Run /init to create a CLAUDE.md file with instructions for Claude

What's new
Added `alwaysLoad` option to MCP server config — when `true`, all tools from that server skip tool-search deferral and are always…
Added `claude plugin prune` to remove orphaned auto-installed plugin dependencies; `plugin uninstall --prune` cascades
Added a type-to-filter search box to `/skills` so you can find a skill in long lists without scrolling
